Most of my concerns would be the same, even with no light rail. Suggestions

1. Bike access along Bellevue Way improvement.
2. Improved/safe access to Bill Pace!
3. 113th Avenue intersection needs help.
4. Add a pedestrian bridge to station
5. Move the Winters House to someplace where it could be used more.

Flow from Bellevue Way to I-90 is inadequate today. Direct downtown Bellevue traffic onto I-405 instead of South on Bellevue Way, 108th behind BHS, etc.

Photo enforcement to slow traffic down blinking lights on our crosswalks (all along the crosswalk)
Flags for crosswalks both sides
parking permits for our streets. to keep our from becoming parking lots.
car pool lane? If doing so - One lane only!
maybe before rail construction starts?
Keeping our neighborhood just that a neighborhood first. station second.
Side walks - traffic circles.

I am very concerned about accessibility issues. As a former therapist working with trauma patients - I want to make sure accessibility issues are addressed from the beginning - and not implemented after the fact. Accessibility is important not just in the station itself, but also in the areas leading up to the station.
(accessibility for low vision, mobility impaired, and cognitively impaired people)

As a resident of Bellecrest I live on 108th and am very concerned about how much more traffic will cut through on 108th when construction for light rail begins. We have already seen an increase in traffic due to tolling on 520 as well as the remodel of the highschool which resulted in most of the highschool traffic to be directed to 108th.

- Children at play signs "slow down"
- speed bumps
- Street lights / sidewalks
- bike lanes to the station
- light the steps - easy hand rails
- create neighborhood signs all around the perimeter - identify that there is a neighborhood here. Identify children

The city has absolutely FAILED its residents by allowing S-T. to bully it into the Bellevue Way alignment.
