

City of Bellevue
P.O. Box 90012
Bellevue, WA 98009-9012

Volunteer Opportunity!

Salmon Watchers Wanted!

Fall is fast approaching, the time of year when salmon return to Bellevue streams to spawn and renew their lifecycle. Salmon Watcher Volunteers help us learn more about salmon populations in Bellevue by observing and reporting when, where and what type of salmon are returning to streams in Bellevue.

The work accomplished by Salmon Watcher Volunteers is essential to local salmon recovery efforts. The information gathered indicates how salmon are using local streams, identifies possible fish passage barriers and helps target professional salmon recovery work.

No prior experience is needed, and the more volunteer eyes watching the better!

How can I be a Salmon Watcher?

1. Register for a training by calling Bellevue Stream Team at 425-452-5200 or streamteam@ci.bellevue.wa.us
2. Attend just one training to learn all you need to know and select a site to watch for salmon.
3. Observe your stream site for 15 minutes twice a week during the fall spawning season, September through December.

Attend a training near you!

All trainings are 7-9pm.

- Wednesday, Aug. 30, Renton Community Center
- Tuesday, Sept. 12, Woodinville City Hall
- Thursday, Sept. 14, Bellevue City Hall
- Sept. 25, Issaquah Salmon Hatchery
- Sept. 26, Good Shepherd Center, Seattle

For more information you can also check out <http://dnr.metrokc.gov/wlr/waterres/salmon/>