Keeping Kids Safe in our Community

Thursday, April 18, 7 p.m.
Bellevue College • Carlson Theater
3000 Landerholm Circle SE

After the Newtown tragedy, we invite you to join the national conversation on community and school safety. How can schools and mental health agencies partner to help prevent tragedies? How can the public gain understanding of the prevention and intervention services available in the community and know where to turn for help? What are the trends and the signs to pay attention to? Panelists will share their expertise on the web of support available in our schools and community.

Panelists:

MEGAN KENNEDY, Mental Health Counselor, School Outreach, Youth Eastside Services

DANNY HANSON, Violence Prevention Coordinator, Youth Eastside Services

LT. JOE NAULT, Supervisor, School Services Unit / Crime Analysis Unit, Bellevue Police Department

DR. TIM MILLS, Superintendent, Bellevue Public Schools

MICHELLE PROULX, Bellevue School District K-12 Counseling Curriculum Developer overseeing Bullying Prevention, Counseling, and Social Emotional Learning programs

ILSE BRAUN, Social Worker, Seattle Children's Hospital

Panel Moderators:

PATTI SKELTON-McGOUGAN, Executive Director, YES

CHIEF LINDA PILLO, Bellevue Police Department
