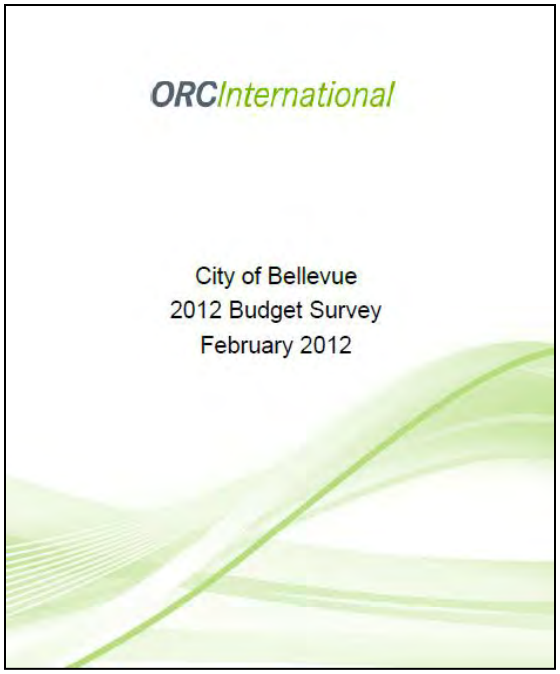
Other Jurisdictions

Public support for transit consistently ranks the highest across an array of transportation strategies on how to handle traffic and congestion in Bellevue.



83 percent of Bellevue residents agree that the City should "work with regional agencies to improve local and regional public transportation serving Bellevue." Three out of five (61%) residents strongly agree with this strategy.

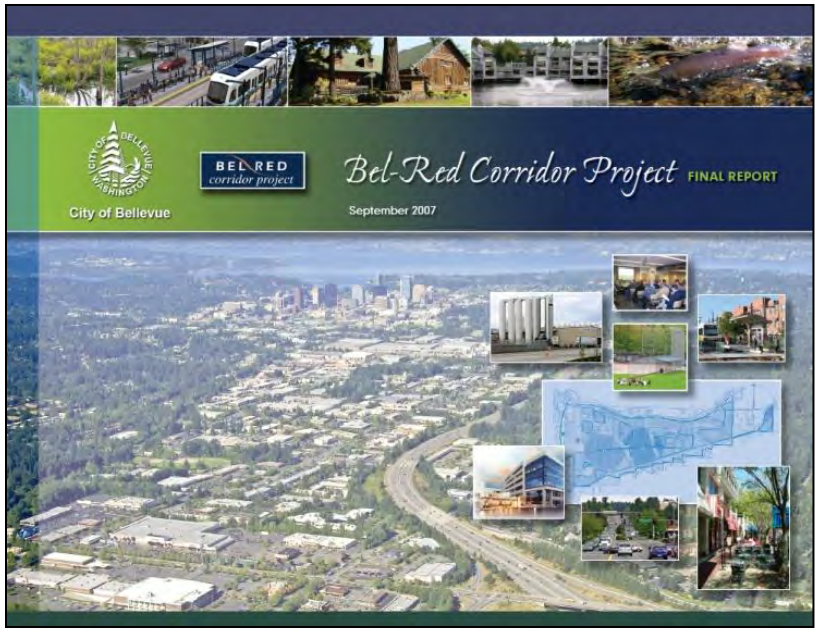
First Bellevue high-rise in four years breaks ground

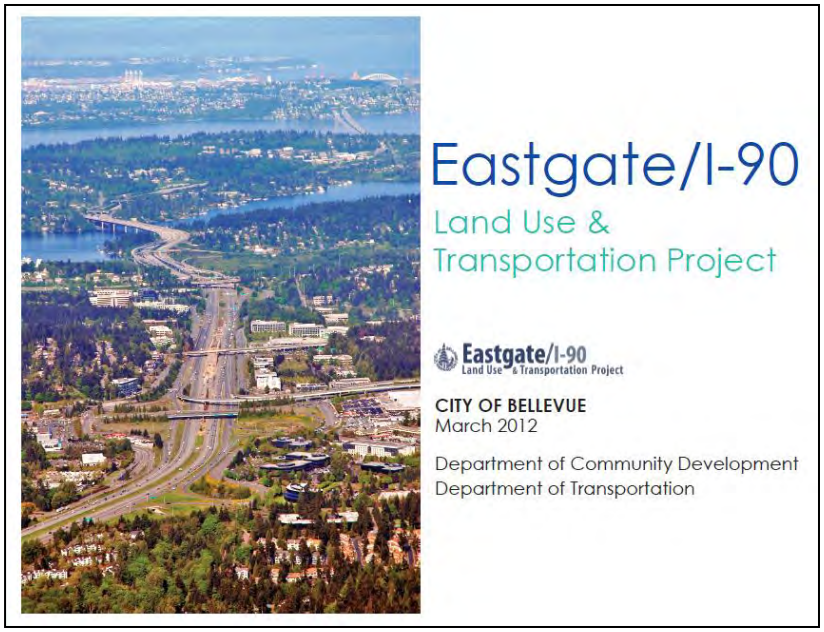
Originally published May 25, 2012

Su Development has broken ground on a 21-story apartment tower in downtown Bellevue, the city's first new high-rise since the real-estate market collapsed.

Paul Sweeney, a principal with commercial brokerage Broderick Group, predicted at an industry gathering earlier this month that downtown Bellevue's office vacancy rate would drop from 12.9 to 8.6 percent over the next year.

Companies are moving to downtown Bellevue from other Eastside locations because they like its amenities, particularly its transit options, he said.





Transit reinforces Bellevue's Downtown and the Bel-Red and Eastgate/I-90 corridors as economically vibrant focal points that serve as gateways to the city of Bellevue.

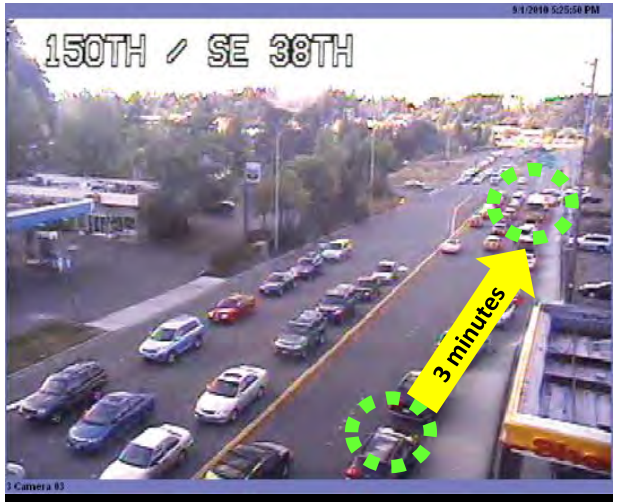
Bellevue Transit Master Plan

2012 Survey (Trip Purpose)

Standing loads on Route 243.

882 of respondents who use transit to commute to work (N=1,545) indicated that they had to stand while riding the bus because every seat was occupied.



Elapsed time to travel 1 block on Rt 271.

595 of respondents who use transit to commute to work (N=1,545) indicated that service speed and reliability improvements were needed (e.g., investing in roadway and traffic signal infrastructure).

"It's very important that downtown Bellevue be well connected by transit .... a community that doesn't get that … risks losing its economic vitality."

1. Approved project principles to guide the Plan Update.
2. Approved major elements in the Plan Update scope of work.
3. Provided direction on Board/Commission engagement process.

1. Support planned growth and development in Bellevue with a bold transit vision that encourages long-term ridership growth.

2. Engage community stakeholders in setting the priorities for transit delivery.

3. Determine where and how transit investments can deliver the greatest degree of mobility and access possible for all populations.

4. Incorporate other transit-related efforts (both bus and light rail) underway in Bellevue and within the region.

5. Identify partnership opportunities to further extend transit service and infrastructure.

6. Develop measures of effectiveness to evaluate transit investments and to track plan progress.

Identifies the City's transit service priorities that are responsive to different financial scenarios and attune to different time horizons.

Assesses roadway, signal system, and other rights-of-way improvements that could be made to support the transit vision outlined in the Service Element.

Articulates Bellevue's interests as it responds to regional transit policy changes and financial uncertainties, and coordinates with partner agencies.
