POLICY CONSIDERATION

Approval of this Resolution provides for the implementation of an automated budgeting system which, consistent with the goals of the Finance and Human Resources Replacement Project, is expected to provide for additional administrative efficiencies.

BACKGROUND

At the September 12, 2005 Council Study Session, staff provided an overview of the purpose and advantages of purchasing the GovMax budgeting system from Sarasota County, Florida. Council requested additional information, including examples of Council relevant reports that the GovMax system could provide. This information was provided at the October 3, 2005 Council Study Session.

A budget development system serves as a planning tool that stores background financial data in detail and is designed to support an iterative planning process, compiling changes in the budget from the initial request through various stages of departmental, budget office, City Manager, Council review and approval and into the adopted budget. The benefits of a strong budget system include automating manual processes, improving data collection and workflow, strengthening analysis capabilities, and reducing error checking, data entry and re-keying, thus allowing additional time for budget analysis.

The City purchased the JDE OneWorld system with the understanding that JDE did not provide a governmental budget development module and would not meet the City's requirements. A cross-departmental team worked for several months to develop a recommendation for changes to Bellevue's current budget system. Staff determined that while several budget planning systems existed, these systems were embedded in proprietary software and would require the City to purchase a new accounting system. Staff identified one low cost alternative, GovMax, that would require minimal set-up and operational costs.

The GovMax budget solution integrates operating, capital, and performance budgeting into a single environment which will allow for the automation of a variety of manual processes. The selection process used meets the City Code and contracting policies.

The following table compares some of the anticipated efficiency gains of GovMax to the system used to prepare the 2005-2006 Budget (Current Budget Tool).

Current Budget Tool	GovMax
Staff had to use multiple programs & spreadsheets for budget development.	Staff will use one integrated system.
Staff had to manually extract program information from multiple sources.	Staff will be able to flag fields and create the ability to print reports showing program information.
Staff spent significant hours inputting data into redundant systems and error-checking data.	Data will be fully integrated into one system and the need for this level of error-checking will be significantly reduced.
Budget document was produced from multiple sources (Word, Excel, JDE, etc.).	Staff will produce most of the budget document directly from GovMax.

EFFECTIVE DATE

If adopted by Council, this Resolution becomes effective immediately.
